

Recommendations Made by Subcommittee Members on Recruitment of RBTs

I think high school and college guidance counselors should be made aware of the RBT credential and career opportunities. This would involve spreading awareness to CCSD and local colleges (e.g., CSN, UNLV, etc).

At the college level, many funding sources require the RBT to have education in related field (e.g., behavior analysis, psychology, special education, etc.). It would be helpful to post informational flyers about the RBT and job opportunities at those college departments and speak with the Dean of the program if possible.
